MONONGAHELA CONSTABLE SHOT AND KILLED; STEPSON ARRESTED

Wallace Hilton Dies From Effect of Three Abdominal Wounds

PREVIOUS QUARREL RUMORED

Two Men Said to Have Met Wednesday Evening and to Have Renewed Dispute, With Blows and Shooting Following

Shot three times in the abdomen, Constable Wallace Hilton of Monongahela died in the South Side hospital, Pittsburgh at 12:45 o'clock this morning. His stepson, Samuel E. McPherson is under arrest charged with having done the shooting.

But few facts could be learned regarding the murder either from the officials or members of the Hilton family. The shooting occurred about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Hilton home in Ninth street. Constable Hilton was given attention immediately by a physician summoned and was then rushed to the Pittsburgh hospital. McPherson was arrested within a short time.

Blanche McPherson, a sister of the man custody, is said to have been an eye witness of the tragic affair. She could not be successfully interviewed, however, as officers are closely guarding the Hilton residence and refuse admission to all.

Able to hear but unable to see, Mrs. Hilton, widow of the dead constable and mother of the man alleged to have fired the shots that resulted in the former's death, was also in the Hilton home. She has just returned from the hospital to which her husband was taken, having undergone an operation for cataracts on her eyes there several days ago.

It is understood that Constable Hilton and his stepson quarreled some days ago and that Hilton ordered McPherson from his house and forbid him to ever return. McPherson, it is reported, went there Wednesday evening to secure some stone carving tools he had never taken away.

When Hilton and McPherson met it is supposed that they renewed the quarrel. Following hot words they exchanged, they grappled and then exchanged blows. Constable Hilton is said to have floored McPherson and was beating his face. McPherson, it is believed then pulled the revolver and fired three times in rapid succession as he lay on the floor. Every shot took effect. Two lodged in Hilton's abdomen but a third penetrated entirely through his body coming out in his back.

McPherson gave himself up. He was taken to the office of Alderman McAlister after being arrested. Later he was placed in the city lockup.

Pittsburg Woman Writes Chief Albright for Information—Says Boy Came to Her Home Memorial Day.

Chief of Police C. W. Albright is in receipt of a letter from a widow woman by the name of Mrs. Julia Bauman, of Wabash station, West Liberty, Pittsburg, inquiring about a family by the name of George Mid-urch. She says that a boy came to her home on Memorial day, stating he had no place to go, and stating that his parents had chased him away. Ever since she has been keeping the boy, but having a large family of her own to support she is finding the additional burden more than she cares to assume, and is trying to find the family.

DONORA OUTING ON AUGUST 28

Eldora to be Scene of Great Gathering of Workingmen—Other Dates Booked

BLACKSMITHS TO BE AT PARK

Saturday of this week will end one of the best picnic weeks of the season at Eldora park. On this date the blacksmiths of the Monongahela valley will hold their annual outing and they have in prospect a good time. Next Saturday will occur one of the biggest outings held during the summer at the park. It will be the annual picnic of the workmen of the Donora American Steel and Wire mill and the Donora Steel plant.

Plans have been about worked out for the Donora picnic and the workmen and their wives and families or sweethearts will descend upon the park in hundreds. They have arranged a program of athletic events and sports that will prove a big attraction.

Annually the workmen of Donora have been in the habit of visiting Pittsburgh parks in their annual picnic, and this will be the first year for the picnic to be held in the home district. Superintendent Clark of the American Steel and Wire plant is the chairman of the committee looking after arrangements.

Monday and Tuesday will be given up to the regularly scheduled weekly affairs. Thursday the Monongahela A. M. E. Sunday school will hold a picnic at the park.

The second summer dance of the Alpha Phi Beta fraternity of Charleroi will be given on Thursday evening of next week and invitations have been issued. It is anticipated that this event will be of equal interest with the one previously held, which means that it will be one of the leading social events of the season at the park.

STATE SUES COUNTY; SEWAGE IS THE CAUSE

Commonwealth Seeks to Compel the County to Stop Pollution of Chartiers Creek From the County Institutions

The state of Pennsylvania Wednesday afternoon through its commissioner of health, Samuel G. Dixon, started proceedings against the county of Washington, wherein the state seeks to compel the county to cease emptying the sewage of the Children's and County homes into the waters of Chartiers creek.

The sewage disposal plant of the borough of Washington is located at Arden on the borough farm, adjoining the Children's home farm and adjacent to the County home farm. The county though, has never been able to reach an agreement whereby it might install some system whereby the sewage could be disposed of at Arden. The plant operated by the borough was approved by the state department of health before work on its erection was started. It has proven a very successful disposal plant. It is set forth in the proceedings just filed against the county that the discharge of this sewage into Chartiers creek has become a public nuisance, especially offensive to the senses of sight and smell and further that during a considerable portion of the year, this creek is almost dry and for that reason pools of stagnant sewage are formed and sedimentation of organic matter of sewage origin occurs. Wherefore it is averred the stream, due to this pollution becomes a menace to the health of those along its course.

The plaintiff health department states that it has frequently complained as to the above conditions, but notwithstanding this the defendant county, it is claimed has wholly failed to take steps to abate the nuisance.

RINGGOLDS CONCLUDE BROWNSVILLE REUNION

Ninety-Three Comrades in Attendance at Annual Gathering—Next Reunion of Command to be Held in Washington

Ninety-three comrades who fought shoulder to shoulder in the Civil war as a member of the famous Ringgold Battalion and survived the shot and shell of the battlefields and through the years that have intervened since, gathered at Brownsville Wednesday for the annual reunion of the regiment. Many of the veterans' relatives and friends and residents of Brownsville and vicinity joined in the exercises of the day.

Next year the Ringgolders will meet at Washington about September 15.

Headquarters of the Civil war heroes during their visit at Brownsville were at the Central Presbyterian church. One of the pleasant features was an automobile tour through this section. The address of welcome was made by George L. Moore of South Brownsville and the response was given by William L. Wood of California. A campfire was held in the evening at the church.

MANY CHILDREN GARDENERS

All Told 250 Boys and Girls Engaged in Work—Gardens Formerly Unimproved Vacant Lots Donated for Use by Owners.

Saturday afternoon will be "harvesting" and reckoning day at the Charleroi school gardens and at that time prizes will be distributed to children who have produced the best gardens this summer. Cash prizes amounting in the aggregate to $37 will be given. The prize to each child entitled to one will be $1.

During the summer 250 boys and girls have been engaged in garden work in school yards and near to the schools vacant lots donated by owners for the purpose. Garden work has been carried on under the direction of Miss Marion Schabana, and W. S. Auer of the playgrounds. The average age of the child gardener was from 9 to 13 years. Wonderful results have been obtained, as any visitor to the school gardens Saturday afternoon will be able to himself see.

The prizes will be distributed as follows: Fifth street building, $12; Elliott lot, $6; Second street lot, $7; St. Jerome's Catholic church, $4; Soakaway, $4. The distribution is such that 12 children will receive prizes at the Fifth street gardens, six at the Elliott lot and so on. At Second street four girls will get prizes and three boys.

The judges will be T. L. Daly, of North Charleroi; C. J. Mogan, W. D. Pollock, Prof. T. L. Pollock and D. R. Duvall.

Money for the prizes were donated as follows: J. D. Berryman, Berryman's Department store $5; H. J. Booth, Imperial Glass company $5; Frank M. Haines, Hussy-Binns, Shovel company, $5; C. R. Peregrine, Macheth-Glass company, $5; Neri Newcomb, Pittsburgh Plate Glass company $2; J. J. Hoti, $5; Child Welfare Circle, $5; W. B. Pfeighardt, $5.

The gardens were formerly vacant lots which were donated by different persons in the neighborhoods of the various schools about town. They were for the most part filled with stone and had not been cultivated, or used for any purpose for several years. They were fenced in, wire donated by C. J. Mogan, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Steel company plants being used. Several others contributed plants and flowers.

Flowers clipped from the gardens Saturday afternoon will be sent to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital. The prize distribution will begin at 2 o'clock at the Fifth street grounds.

TEACH CHILDREN TO SWIM

The lesson of the Eastland will not be fully learned if it is directed only to the punishment of responsible persons and the improvement of navigation laws and ship inspection. There is another side to it that is just as important. Passengers themselves have their share of responsibility for their own safety, says an exchange.

Even with the best laws, the safest construction and the most punctilious care, accidents will happen. And what then? Shall the passengers be drowned like so many helpless infants, just because they don't know how to swim?

No moral drawn from the Chicago disaster is plainer than the need of everybody mastering this simple art. Hundreds of persons were drowned in a quiet river not more than thirty or forty feet from the shore, with hundreds near by eager to help them. What a simple thing to swim those few yards, or to keep afloat until help arrived! Yet all those human bodies, lighter than water and so easy to keep afloat, went down like stones.

Swimming lessons ought to be popular in Chicago, after that. They ought to be popular in every community in the country. Some of the big universities now refuse diplomas to students who cannot swim. That is good; but it's better to catch them younger. It would be an admirable thing if no boy or girl was allowed to graduate from any public school without learning to swim. The schools might very properly provide instruction and also special swimming facilities where they are needed.

IS IT A GUESS?

Guesses on the duration of the great war are chiefly interesting because of what they are worth. In this connection the report of the visit of Charlie Schwab to Braddock as published in the News-Herald of that place is of interest. He met with the directors of the Braddock National bank and spent some hours with them.

Commenting upon the war he stated that in his opinion the result in the end would be a draw and would be brought about through the utter exhaustion of the participants, remarks the Uniontown Herald. He was very optimistic as to the prosperity of the United States. He believes that we are entering upon the busiest era in the history of the country.

His guess is interesting because he has been closely related to many of the belligerents, particularly the allies. He has placed vast contracts for war materials which his Bethlehem Steel company is now engaged in fabricating. His guess is probably based upon a lot of exact information not available to very many others. But is it a guess?

Possibly never before were candidates for office so impressed with the value of newspaper advertising as they are now. Window cards do not fill the bill, sign post advertising has only the value of showing forth the name, handbills are entirely inadequate and blotters come under the same classification as window cards. The newspaper therefore alone remains with its adaptability for completely advertising the qualifications of the candidates.

Whether it be the school board or the public service commission, borough managers or city commission, that withholds information of their dealings from the public and the public finds it out, the distrust will be the same. A body working for the public must confide in the public if it is to be respected.

Since the great river is making its annual pilgrimage down the Monongahela river, we are performing our morning oblations in water the color of an Indian's skin. Copper-colored water is not, however, strange to us, having a most unkind habit of visiting us once a year from Cheat sources. Our consolation is that it is not as tough as it looks, though most of us imagine vain things as we bravely attempted to gulp it down.

It cost the Charleroi school district $56 for its audit of 1914-15 finances. The audit was completed within a few weeks after the school fiscal year had closed. This is a splendid commentary on the system. If there was only a borough law compelling the completion of the yearly audit two months after the close of the books—but what's the use wishing!

Electric Sparks

It's a puzzle which investigation the government should take up first, the Eastland, Leo Frank murder, tariff, Mexican, war abroad or the length of the New Jersey mosquito beak.

It begins to look as though a man would have about as much chance in a train wreck as in a Georgia prison.

Georgia ought to be a good state for the suffragists to campaign in.

A flying machine is never any good until it is put to flight.

The North Belle Vernon fire department rooms were visited by a tramp who played the piano, they say, divinely. If it is true he plays divinely, it's a pity more pianists aren't tramps.

Many a hope is hopeless.

"Where's Diogenes?" asks an exchange. While we cannot definitely answer the question at the present writing we understand he has gone into the munition manufacturing business as a means of revenge.

If the horse had the power of speech the automobile would get what's coming to it.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

There is a very stern Philadelphia woman who demands instant and unquestioning obedience from her children. One afternoon a storm came up and she sent her little son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the house.

"But, mother—" began John. "John, I told you to shut the trap!" "Yes, but mother—" "John, shut the trap!" "All right, mother, if you say so—but—" "John!"

Whereupon John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by and the storm howled and raged. Two hours later the family gathered for dinner and when the meal was half over Aunt mother, had not appeared. The mother started an investigation, but she did not have to ask many questions. John answered the first one. "Mother, she is on the roof."

A young lady entered the editor's room with an air of great determination.

"I have a poem," she began. "Well," exclaimed the editor, with a look that was intended to frighten her away.

"I have written a poem," she went on calmly. "The Dear Old Garden Gate," and—

"Oh," interrupted the editor, with icy courtesy, "you don't know how relieved I am! A poem written on the garden gate, eh? I was afraid it was written on paper and that you wanted me to publish it. If I should ever happen to be passing your house I'll stop and read it!"—New York American.

FORD CAR TOUGH OBJECT FOR LARGE CAR TO HIT

This is a story of the toughness of a Ford car. Wednesday afternoon a Ford jitney bus owned by Lawrence Bell, of Belle Vernon, was standing at the corner of Fifth street and McKean avenue, when a large car driven by Miss Thelma Duvall rounded into Fifth at the passenger station and bumped the Ford a hard jolt. The lights on the large car were much damaged, and the radiator was damaged. Examination of the Ford disclosed that its damages consisted of a bent mud guard and a slightly torn tire.

Luke McLuke Says:
When a man hates another man he goes around and tells everybody but the man he hates.

A rich man is often a poor husband. The woman who spends all of her time trying to shine in society always gets mad when her nose gets the habit.

The fellow who remains in the bay and pounds his ear until noon usually spends the rest of the day whining that he can't get up in the world.

A man doesn't mind paying his beer bill, but it is different when his water bill comes in.

Start to praise a man and your audience will yawn. Start knocking a man and your audience will sit up and pay attention.

When a man can't make a living any other way he can always become a reformer and find plenty of gronches to finance a society for the prevention of something.

The reason why a woman never succeeds when she marries a man in reforming him is because she forgets to take a course of lessons in the art of charming snakes.

The old fashioned youth who believed that women were all built alike now has a son who knows a corn fed shape from an excelsiorized one.

When he begins to notice that she talks too much, and she begins to notice that his breath smells of tobacco, the honeymoon goes out and hunts for a man who knows how to use a pulmotor.

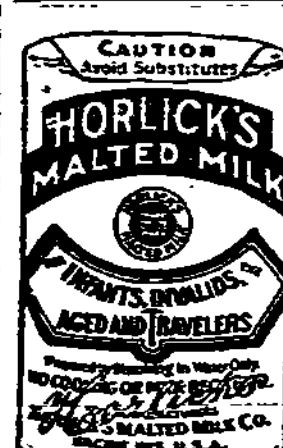

This is a queer world. In one end of town a woman who has denied herself enough to eat so that the children might have milk for supper will pick up a piece of newspaper and see a big headline over the news that a woman in the other end of town has just paid $10,000 for a Pekingese poodle.

We have added 30 per cent to the rubber in the side walls, where constant bending breaks so many tires.

We have made new molds—changed the whole design—because of newly-discovered ways to add to the tires' endurance.

Note that 'Goodyear' tires, as made before, won top place in Tiredom. Never has another tire won so many users.

SHOWS STRENGTH OF HABIT

All the Devastation of War Has Not Caused French to Deviate From Regular Ways.

It was Carlyle, we believe, who remarked the narrow orbit of great events. While mobs were tearing at the stones of the Bastille, groups of men in other parts of Paris haggled over copper coins, quarreled over the depredations of house cats, discussed poetry and philosophy or matched predictions on the weather. The fall of the Bastille was to echo down the ages. But the world of accustomed ways continued its way unbroken.

An American, lately returned from Europe, reports that the most astonishing thing about the war to him was the absence of signs of war.

"When you travel by rail if you did not know that war was in the country you would never suspect it unless you wondered why a red-batted, blue-coated guard, with a rifle carelessly swung over his shoulder, was noticeable now and then by cross-road or near the buttress of an important railroad bridge.

"The big black and white horses are plowing in the fields, the red and black cattle and the sheep and hogs are grazing in the fields and pastures.

"As you approach Paris at night, you see families dining by uncurtained windows in blazing light. You are astonished after your London experience of semidarkness to find the boulevards ablaze and no apparent fear of aerial enemies or sky invasions, although aeroplanes and Zeppelins and bombs may be flying and fighting only 80 miles away.

"The inhabitants, young and old, picnic in the Bois de Boulogne.

"You smile and join with the people in their curiosity excursions."

War, for all its earth-shaking, devastating, upheaving violence, is yet weaker than human habit.

NEW IN NAVAL CONSTRUCTION

Three-Gun Turret, Recently Placed on American Ships, Is an Innovation of Unknown Quality.

Our new battleships Nevada and Oklahoma with their three-gun turrets may be the forerunners of a radical change in the methods of big-gun distribution on our super-dreadnaughts—unless, indeed, the super-dreadnaught itself is to be driven to the scrap heap by the submarine. The new vessels carry ten 14-inch guns—three each in a bow and stern turret, and two each in two midship turrets raised sufficiently so their guns may be trained over the three-gun turrets. They can thus discharge an "end-side" fire of five 14-inch guns either ahead or astern.

Italy and Austria each has at least one three-gun turret ship, and France is to try a turret carrying four guns. Up to date, however, there seems to have been no really thorough test of either of these arrangements.

The chief advantage claimed for this concentration of big guns appears to be the concentration of fire resulting from it. Some naval constructors question the practicability of keeping these new "deck-forts" in good working condition, under the enormous shocks and strains produced by their mammoth broadsides. There is also some criticism of the policy of putting so many eggs in one basket. Two disabled turrets on the Nevada will put six instead of four guns out of commission.

Easily Seen.

"I don't believe Jack's new automobile has been any pleasure to him."

"Why do you think that?"

"He hasn't been arrested once since he's been running it."

RECREATION IS THE NEED

Many of the Men of Today Have Forgotten How to Play; Others Never Knew.

Commenting on the statement made recently by a New York Y. M. C. A. physical culture director that of the men he examined many exhibit at forty the symptoms of searle breakdown proper to seventy, the New York press, says, editorially:

The director's advice to these men, "to go somewhere and play" is good. But it would have been better if they had received it and had acted upon it 20 years ago.

Play looks so easy that most people assume it comes naturally. It doesn't. It is a lamentable fact that many persons have forgotten how to play. It is still sadder that others never knew.

Inertia isn't play. Play is initiative. It means setting out deliberately to do something. It means doing it with zest. At its best it should be competitive, for then, to the average man, the zest comes naturally.

Now, it is not easy for a man of forty, say, to walk into a store and buy a set of golf clubs, and then go out on a link and make a show of himself with them. It takes courage for a man of forty to climb aboard a life-size horse and take his chance of sticking there.

No. The time to do these things is in youth. It is then that habits of wholesome, outdoor living should be formed, which will endure so long as haleness is granted one. It is then that the habit of play should be formed, which may change in its manifestations as life wears on, and adapt itself to the limitations of advancing years, yet which will never wear itself out, but rather increase as the requirement of the responsibilities of life gives greater opportunity for its enjoyment.

WARS ON CARELESS REMARKS

"They Say" Stories Are Prevented From Spreading by the Trace-It-Back Club.

From Albany, N. Y., is reported a Trace-It-Back club. Some men had been listening to a "they say" story, and one suggested that were the story traced back to its source, not much of it would be left. Another proposed to trace it back and see. The result was so striking, that the men at once formed themselves into a club for the purpose of tracing such things to their source and so preventing much serious mischief from careless and unfounded statements. The club now numbers many members.

A club of that sort could find employment and useful work to do in every community. Members of the Albany club are exceedingly careful now about what they say. Just a hint of doubt about the matter and they appoint someone to investigate. This is sufficient to cause the recall of all that one was not positively sure about. Rash, hasty talk has been the cause of untold misery. It is wise to make no statement without having valid reason for believing it true. It would be no bad plan for everyone to be as careful of his speech as if a Trace-It-Back club were going to investigate his statements.

Rome's Colossal Fish Pond.

The duke of Sermoneta who is acting as president of the committee formed in Rome to promote the independence of Poland, ranks among the greatest landowners in Italy, Fogliano, his estate near the Pontine marshes, extending to 80,000 acres, mainly under grass, for the duke owns vast herds of cattle. The most productive portion of the estate, however, is a lake several miles long and about a mile in breadth, which, from the time of the Roman empire downward, has supplied fish for the market in Rome. Whenever there is a flood by rain on the hills the lake overflows through a narrow channel into the sea. The sea fish find their way through into the lake, and remain to fatten in the fresh water, and then are captured on their return by an ingenious labyrinth constructed of reeds into which they swim. They are of the best kind—chiefly gray mullet.

Stoned Jail; Is Jailed.

In an effort to extricate her son Chester from jail by force, Mrs. Alice Rollins of Tappan, Rockland county, New York, was locked up herself and sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment in that village.

When the jailer refused to liberate her son, Mrs. Rollins gathered rocks and other ammunition and opened fire. She gave a correct imitation of the bombardment of Dixmude and reduced the glass in the jail windows to fragments before she was arrested. The son was committed to the house of refuge for burglary.

Porto Rico Sugar Industry.

The important part played by the sugar industry in the material welfare of Porto Rico is shown by the figures of exports. Out of a total valuation of exports amounting to $43,000,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, sugar alone constituted over $20,000,000. This was the lowest sum realized for sugar exports in five years. Under normal conditions sugar constitutes two-thirds the total value of all exports.

Hopeful Mission.

I've even one of those 300 commercial travelers who have gone to South America succeeds in making a South American see a United States joke their toll will not have been in vain.—Cleveland Leader.

FRANCIS JOSEPH VERY SPRY

Aged Emperor of Austria Equal to the Situation, Extreme Though It Must Be Admitted.

Francis Molnar, war correspondent in the Carpathians of Az Est, gives an interview with an officer of high rank, who had had an audience of Emperor Francis Joseph a few days previously in Vienna. The officer said:

"I spent half an hour in the working room of his majesty, and found him to be much more lively and agile than at any time during the last years when I saw him. During the audience the emperor walked up and down the room. He was always noted for his excellent memory, but what I saw in regard to this now was really marvelous. His majesty knows the name of the commander of every regiment, and even now is well informed as to changes taking place in commanders of brigades and regiments.

"He is informed every day as to the work being done by all the war material factories. On the table in his study lies an immense map with small flags indicating the position of the fighting forces.

"Cordial relations exist between his majesty and the heir apparent. The emperor speaks highly of the young king and is extremely proud and fond of him.

"His medical advisers do not willingly consent to his drives out, though he asks them daily to allow him to visit the wounded soldiers in the hospitals. The few visits he has paid to the hospitals have been small victories over the doctors."

LAND FIGHTING NOT CLEAN

Sailors Objected to Work They Did Not Enjoy That Was a Necessary Part of Warfare Ashore.

The American troops who occupied Vera Cruz last year were the second body of our soldiers to enter the city within a century. When it was besieged in the Mexican war, Capt. Robert E. Lee, afterward the commander in chief of the Confederate army, was ordered to throw up breastworks to defend a battery manned by the jacks of a man-of-war. Lee put the tars into the trenches, and soon had the dirt flying, but the sailors did not labor cheerfully. They resented having to shovel dirt, and their captain remonstrated openly with Lee.

"My men," he said, "do not want mud banks to hide behind; just let them get out and at the enemy."

But Lee would not listen, and the tars sweated away at the shoveling. Presently the Mexicans opened fire at the very point thus protected, and the sailors were glad to seek the shelter of the despised dirt. The ship's captain felt that he owed Lee an apology and made a handsome one.

"Well, Captain Lee," he stammered, "I reckon you were right. I suppose the dirt did save some of my boys from being killed or wounded, but you know we sailors have no use for dirt banks on shipboard. All we want is a clear deck and an open sea. The fact is, captain, I don't like this land fighting, anyway. It isn't clean."—Youth's Companion.

New Naval Auxiliary.

The German soldier, we are informed, is strictly forbidden in these days of a diminishing food supply to make private levies upon poultry yards of conquered civil populations. Chicken and geese especially, for their eggs' sake, must be respected. Only one feathered creature, the carrier pigeon, is fair game. He is outside the law because he is under suspicion of being the enemy's messenger.

It was somewhere in northern France that an officer on his rounds came upon Private Beck, just relieved of sentry duty and in the act of plucking a stately goose. To a discreetly worded question as to the corpus delicti the soldier answered without the quiver of an eyelid:

"Your pardon, lieutenant, that there's a carrier goose, sir."

Tabloid Aeroplanes.

The British reason, quite logically, that the smaller the aeroplane and the faster it can fly the less danger of its being hit by shots fired from earth. So the British airmen favor an unusually small machine, which they call the "tabloid." A very light frame is fitted with an 80-horsepower motor, which will drive the frail machine through the air at the rate of 100 miles an hour. The engine is covered with armor. The aviator seeking to drop a bomb on the enemy approaches his target at a height of 5,000 feet. When straight above it, he turns the nose of his machine straight down and drops at terrific speed. When within 500 feet of the target he drops his bombs as quickly as possible and then shoots skyward at a tremendous pace.—American Boy.

Division of Coal Consumption.

Of the 510,000,000 tons of coal consumed in America in 1914, 158,000,000 tons were used to generate industrial power, 184,000,000 were consumed in our homes and offices for cooking and heating; 97,000,000 were burned in the boilers of locomotives and steamboats, while the remaining 71,000,000 tons were consumed in our coke and gas plants.

Old Tree Dead.

One of the oldest trees in America at Ravenna Park, Seattle, Wash. is dead. It is a fir tree 180 feet tall with a diameter of 29 feet and a circumference of 93 feet. It is supposed to be eighteen hundred or two thousand years old.

FINALLY GOT HIS INTERVIEW

Death of James Creelman Recalls Remarkable Exploit of Newspaper Man.

James Creelman's death in Germany while still in the prime of life recalls an exploit of which any newspaper reporter might be proud, observed the Wall Street Journal. He was in London at the time of the Baring crisis in 1890, and performed the unheard-of feat of securing for the New York Herald an exclusive interview with the governor of the Bank of England.

It is a matter of history how the governor, the right Hon. William H. Lidderdale, handled that crisis. He tried to see the Barings successfully liquidated and stronger than ever, with the financial situation in Argentina restored, the $3,000,000 gold which he borrowed by means of acceptances from the Bank of France returned in due course with the seals of the packages unbroken. The London market was tided over a desperate emergency with the minimum of disturbance, although there were some forty failures in the stock exchange.

Lidderdale died not long ago, leaving an estate valued at only £2,000. He was a strong man and an honest one. But the idea of interviewing him was so remote that only an irreverent American would have thought of it. Creelman had no pass key or letters of introduction. He simply went to the Bank of England, and starting with the astonishing "beadle," worked his way up. He was sent from department to department, to the secret amusement of various heads, until he actually found himself in the presence of the governor.

But the joke failed to explode. Lidderdale was a long-headed Scotchman, much too intelligent not to see the value of publicity at such a time. He was no slave to precedent. He gave Creelman an excellent interview of a frank and reassuring character, which was published in the following Sunday's New York Herald. It was a great scoop, and the London papers spent money frantically on cable toll getting facts on their own situation from New York for their Monday morning issue.

A precedent was set, and since that time English financiers have been more approachable. It may be said also that publicity there, as in Wall Street, has done much to clean up admitted evils, and to set honest finance right with public opinion. The story is well worth recalling, for it has an obvious moral which should never be forgotten.

New Telegraph Code.

A new form of code chart for simplifying the teaching of the Continental telegraph code has been evolved by a Chicago inventor. In place of the usual method of representing the different telegraphic equivalents for letters and figures in the form of dots and dashes, the characters are indicated by small and large letters or figures; the former representing the dots and the latter the dashes. For instance, the letter "A" is represented as "a A," meaning dot dash. The letter "B" is shown as "B bbb" or dash dot dot dot. Thus, by this simple method, the inventor has eliminated the great confusion arising from the dash-dot representations of the various characters. The letters and figures are fixed in the memory of the student as large and small characters instead of in the form of a complicated mass of letters, figures and combinations of dots and dashes. It is stated that this chart has greatly simplified the learning of the code.

New Subterranean Fauna.

Deep mines present conditions likely to evolve a new subterranean fauna from animals accidentally imprisoned and having sufficient endurance to survive the change. At a depth of 750 feet in a mine of the Midlothian Coalfield, Scotland, Dr. James Ritchie has found 13 animal forms, and he concludes that many others may be carried into deep underground workings. These animals were away from any ventilating shaft reaching the surface, the main shaft being a quarter of a mile distant. They are supposed to have been introduced mostly on the props of Norwegian fir and with the horse fodder, but some may have been drawn in by the suction of the ventilating fans. The species noted were the common mouse, the brown rat, the house sparrow, the great slug, a small spider, two beetles, two flies, the springtail or pit flea, two earthworms and a mycetozoon on the pit props.

Reason for Drier in Paint.

The linseed oil in paint naturally resists the drying effect of the atmosphere, and because of this it is necessary to add something to the paint mixture to overcome the resistance. Drier is prepared for this purpose, its function being to absorb oxygen rapidly and convert the film into a hard insoluble product. During this process the linseed oil is changed into linoleum, and the drier continues its oxidation until the paint film is eventually destroyed.

Drier is made by adding salts to a certain amount of linseed oil which is heated up to about 500 degrees F. The temperature is allowed to drop and turpentine or a mixture of turpentine and benzine added.

Domestic Discipline.

"I'd like to see you one of those marching suffragettes."

"Would you? Then just come on to the parade where I'm one of the marshals, and object, if you dare."

"My, dear, didn't I just say I'd like to see you?"

PRETTY WEDDING

er, Miss Marian Collins was dressed in white and the flower girls, Miss Harriet Keyser, Miss Katherine Kirkpatrick and Miss Edith Mervine Kirkpatrick made a pretty picture in pink taffeta, effecting a pleasing harmony with their baskets of roses and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by George Gehring of Charleroi as his best man, and the page was James Laverne Kimmins a brother of the groom.

After the ceremony the couple departed for Atlantic City, where they will enjoy a part of their honeymoon. They will also visit at other eastern points of interest and return to Charleroi to be "at home" to their friends on September 1 at 714 Fallowfield avenue, where a home has already been fitted up.

The wedding was the culmination of a pretty seashore romance. The couple met while both were enjoying a vacation at Atlantic City two years ago, and a warm friendship sprang up that grew stronger as time passed, resulting in their engagement.

Both bride and groom are well known people in their home communities. For ten years Mr. Kimmins has been employed at the shoe establishment now conducted by Claybaugh and Milliken on McKean avenue. He is a member of the Alpha Phi Beta fraternity of young men of Charleroi and is prominent in the younger set. His bride is a charming young woman who is exceedingly popular in her home. She is actively associated with two clubs of young people and generally is regarded as leader in their social activities.
